Local and General

A number of farmers in this vicinity are sowing fall wheat this year, a diversification of farm effort which is likely to grow in popularity.

V. McLeod, formerly of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff, was a visitor here on Saturday. He left on the mid-night train.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gill left on an auto trip to the coast on Sunday. They are in Vancouver where they will visit Mrs. E. Gill, who is spending the summer there.

A Rumely combine and engine were taken out to the Guess Ranch, east of town, under the direction of Manager J. A. Ruggles last week. Things should hum in the big ranch crop this year.

W. C. Fry and family, of Spokane, Wash., are now in town after a motor trip of some 7,000 miles, extending as far as Ontario points. Mr. Fry is enthusiastic over the appearance of the crop here.

H. J. Hofford and family left for Calgary last week, their ultimate destination being Saskatoon, Sask., according to report. While here both Mr. and Mrs. Hofford made many friends, who will regret their departure.

Farmers are finding the acetylene welding plant, lately installed by Barney Hummel, a decided convenience when looking for this class of work on repairs. In addition an excellent class of work is being turned out.

An addition twenty feet in length is being added to Joplins' store, with a basement the full size of the addition. When completed the store, including warehouses, will be seventy feet in length. L. W. Boden is the contractor.

Accepting a bet of $1.00 that he couldn't do it, W. C. Hoskins rode around the main street section of the town last Friday on a kid's bicycle. The guys who put up the $1.00 didn't know how far Bill would go for such an amount. The are sadder and wiser now.

The first passenger trip of the Lethbridge Commercial Airways was made on August 7 between High River and Lethbridge by a plane piloted by Jock Palmer. It is announced that commercial flights will be arranged between Lethbridge and Waterton Lakes.

The annual flower show sponsored by the Women's Institute will be held in the church on Saturday, August 27th. Tea will be served during the afternoon. This has always been an attractive event and the unusually favorable weather this year should insure a brilliant display.

A Ford light delivery belonging to G. T. Dow was backed out onto the street and collided with a Ford driven by J. W. Sanderson in front of Gundersen's store on Monday, some damage being done to fenders and tires. Mr. Sanderson accepted responsibility for the damage.

Under the Tax Recovery Act, sales of land will be held in Strathmore and Lacombe on September 17. Other sales affecting several of the smaller municipalities in the province are being arranged by the Provincial Government, but where possible they will be left over until the first returns from the present crop have been received. It is believed that these sales will greatly reduce the tax arrears in many localities.

Combined To Be Factor In Present Harvest

Preparations for the biggest harvest in the history of this district are going on apace. Present indications are that from twelve to fifteen combines will be delivered here for this present season's cutting. That binders are yet far from being spindled is evident from the number of these machines being prepared for delivery. The wheels continue the filling process to general satisfaction, weather conditions having been splendid. The bulk of the rye seed will be in stock or the grain in bins this week. A light shower on Tuesday delayed the beginning of threshing on Anderson Bros. farm. Unless it be in isolated fields wheat cutting will not begin before September 1st.

$45 Cash Per Acre Paid For Half Section

A real estate deal of importance was put through this week, when Clarence Davis purchased a half section from Matt Sheldon, the price paid being $45 per acre, cash, the seller to harvest this year's crop. This latest purchase increases Mr. Davis' holdings to three sections.

New School Principal Is Visitor Here

F. I. Baker B. Sc., of the Champion Consolidated Schools

who will be principal of the Champion Consolidated Schools during the coming year, was a visitor here last Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Baker. Mr. Baker comes to Champion highly recommended by educational authorities. Both he and Mrs. Baker are said to be interested in young people's activities and they promise to be a decided acquisition to the town. They will return here about August 27th and take up their residence in the teacherage.

GROVES—BASSETT

The marriage took place in Calgary on Wednesday, August 10th, of Miss Opal Bassett and James Groves, of Champion. The contracting parties are widely known in the vicinity and were the recipients of general congratulations on their return home. They have taken up their residence on Mr. Groves' farm, 10 miles east of Champion.

Barons and Champion baseball teams met on the local diamond on Wednesday evening, August 10th, a fair crowd turning out for the occasion. Siler in the box for Champion held the visitors close to the goose egg point, only one run crossing the plate, while Champion piled up nine runs off Hodgen's and Lyons delivery. Watts and Bassett were two new players on the local line up, both making a favorable impression. The batteries were Siler and Watts, Hodgen, Lyon and Wobreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lobban, of Lethbridge, Alta., were visitors here during the week. Both expressed their appreciation of their home while regretting the severance of friendly ties resulting from the trip. They also visited Mrs. Lobban's home in Lethbridge. During his stay Mr. Lobban purchased a McLaughlin-Buick car from B. M. Roberts.

She was making the best of her opportunities—gossip was making the worst of them—malice and rumor had spun a web of scandal 'round her life . . . it's not a flapper picture, but the tense drama of a modern girl, who knew her own mind, and followed its dictates—a story of modern youth and love that will open your eyes to beauties and terrors that beat the life of society beauty—a picture that will hold your interest from beginning to end.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The improvements to the main street are nearing completion, if not already accomplished. While some criticisms of the material used are made, it is about the only gravel available at a reasonable cost. It is understood oil is likely to be used to prevent the blowing of the sand powdered by traffic. If this is done there will be every reason for congratulation on the part of the citizens that a real improvement has been accomplished.

The republicans in Ireland have taken the oath of Allegiance required from members of parliament, and the entry of forty-five of these into the dail likely means the defeat of the Cosgrave government. There may easily be more trouble ahead in the land of the shamrock.

It is understood the provincial government have a different system of taxation for villages under preparation. It is high time some better system than the single tax was evolved. Its unfairness is so apparent it is a wonder steps to improve the situation were not taken long ago.

Churchill has been finally chosen as the terminal for the Hudson Bay railway. With an ocean port at Vancouver the Bay railway is not of the importance here it is at points further east, but as a competitive outlet it will undoubtedly have an influence on grain rates in Alberta.

The turning on of the electric juice by the Calgary Power Co. promises to be an event of the near future. It would be a fitting time for a celebration in honor of the utility. Our zeal along this line may not improve with the paying of light bills.

With the exception of hail over a relatively small area to the northeast, everything has been as favorable to the wheat crop as could possibly have been under any circumstances for the period since the first hail storm. The crop is late but otherwise all that could be wished for.

With the passing of the present harvest the adaptability of combines to this vicinity will have been fairly well tested. Should they prove a real success owners are anticipating stocking binder twine and threshing outfits will be a thing of the past in this part of Alberta.

It is seven years since the crime for which Sacco and Vanzetti were sentenced to death was committed and their execution is again delayed until August 22nd. The long period elapsing between the offence and punishment has permitted the sentence in their favor to grow to its present proportions. Now the world is stirred in their defense by fellow reds.

The man who was haled out has one advantage over the general run. He doesn't need to worry about frost.

The Irish republicans have at last taken the oath of allegiance and will take their seats in the Irish parliament. A great deal is made of the fact that the oath is taken with mental reservations, but if the stumbling block was so easily avoided why did the republicans take so long to find it out. It is the old Chinese idea of "saving your face."

Comhounds have been travelling countrywards during the week and some cutting has been done in rye fields with binders. Operations in the rye fields will be general this week.

Lately we are encountering as visitors many persons who own land in this vicinity but are living elsewhere. News of the good crop is bringing them back to look over their holdings. Some of them indicate an intention of coming back to their land.

Local vegetables are now plentiful in the stores and are so superior to the imported article that a special effort should be made in future to keep the home grown supply equal to the occasion. Superb gardens are to be found in every direction.

Precise appearances would indicate that Champion would enhance its wheat shipping record this year, even if a figure in excess of 1,000,000 bushels is required. Filling is proceeding very satisfactorily and the crop is good in every part of the district.

Dalziel Business College
Offers Scholarships

Young people with limited means who are ambitious to improve their position in life by taking a business course are to be given a rare opportunity to do so at the Dalziel Business College, which is offering 20 scholarships, 10 at 25 per cent, less than the usual tuition fees, and 10 at half fees. These scholarships are to be given in consideration of the entrance fees which are 25 cents. Entering the competition does not obligate the candidate to take the business course, but all who win the scholarships must be ready to enter the college not later than September 1st.

A short test paper will be submitted to each candidate covering questions of an elementary nature, which the management says every reasonable effort will be made to answer. The examination will be conducted at the Dalziel Business College, 114 Seventh Ave. East, Calgary, and the decision of the principal shall be deemed final. The closing date for entries is August 25th, and the examination will be conducted every day from August 22nd to August 31st, inclusive. All entries.

Supp. Exams. Aug. 29

Supplemental examinations in the units of the third and fourth year High School courses will be held from Monday, August 29 to September 5, inclusive, at Calgary. The examinations in the two units at which these examinations will be held must each be taken from here. Trees In Western Canada

In the great nation-building work of settling the vast plains of Western Canada one objection to overcome with many intervening settlers, especially from Ontario and other countries where woods and timber products were the chief export. To meet this difficulty in the early West country, the settlers, with their unbroken stretches as far and farther than the eye could reach, presented a barren, uninviting appearance. There was not only a lack of that restfulness and beauty which trees provide, but an absence of protection from the elements when high winds prevailed, the snows drifted and blizzards descended daily.

But the settlers, in the settlement of the West, many lonely workers travelled long distances from the areas traversed by the railway to and locations in districts where there were trees because, what they wanted, was not a mere temporary place where they could "melt" the soil for a time, make some ready money quickly, and then get out, but a new and permanent home for their children who would have a better opportunity in life than in the lands from which they had come. The pull was with incomogeneous, haphazard roots, their isolated locations solely because they preferred the wooded districts to the open, seemingly unattractive prairies.

In those early days, however, thousands of people came and toiled. They were gamblers, but had no intention of establishing permanent homes. They came, however, with the making of money as rapidly as possible. They were quits from in admitting they had no thought of making the West their home for the remainder of their lives, but that, on the contrary, they were using it as a temporary way house, a stepping stone to some other and better place. Many came with the idea of making money which they could not accomplish. In this they were successful, but not all of them ultimately found permanent homes.

Some years ago the fact was home into the minds of the Federal government that the problem of peopling the West was not so much one of immigration as of colonization; not so much the obtaining of settlers as the retaining of them once they had come. In a word, the real problem was how to get people to regard the West as a place of permanent residence; how to get them to stay.

It came to be realized that a farm house, stable and barn set down in the midst of a flat prairie, utterly lacking in anything approaching beauty or location and surroundings, could never appear as a "home," and could never inspire in the minds and hearts of children that affection which the parents still retained for the old homes they had left. And it was realized that what was needed to convert these prairie dwelling places into real and permanent homes was "trees."

There was an impression abroad, however, that trees would not grow; if they would, why was not the prairie country covered with them? It was the case in other lands and other areas. But it was not a convincing answer, as it was argued that if trees would grow elsewhere, they would grow on the site, certain parts of the West. And, always, some enterprising settlers soon proved that this was so.

The problem of getting trees, getting them in large numbers and cheaply, because these early settlers had little money to spend, and just as right as to plant and cultivate them, existed. Then the Dominion government inaugurated one of the finest of its many splendid services for agriculture when it established forestry farms in the West.

These farms have worked a veritable revolution in the appearance of the Western country. Established, as they were, on the bare prairie, in a few years they were converted into great forests. From small, bare, open, forthright areas of desolate, treeless, free of character land, the West, experts have advised on tree culture, foresters have been instructed, advice on planting given. Today, hundreds and thousands of Western farm dwellings have been converted into homes of real attractiveness and beauty to which their owners and their children have been born. The result is that there is now a home to be found in the prairie prairie, where a green and effective garden of colonization, while at the same time providing shelter for stock, protection for gardens, and a comfort all when strong winter winds sweep across the land.

Prairie cities, towns and villages have caught the spirit and learned the lesson taught by these forestry farms, and, formerly wholly unattractive places, as well as the capital city of Saskatchewan, whom have failed to endear with any of their arts, have become places of real beauty and are a source of pride and delight to their residents, and of surprise and pleasure to visitors from afar.

The Federal Government is deserving of all praise for its forestry farms and tree planting policy, and to an ever increasing extent it is helping the people of Western Canada with the efforts of the Government and even more energetically prosecute the work of surrounding their homes with trees.

Flowers Made Of Rubber

Reproductions Are Very Realistic and Will Not Crush

Realistic reproductions of several different kinds of flowers are now being made from raw rubber by a patent of the Canadian Rubber Co. They are cut and dried, and then are dried in natural dyes, a colouring agent is added to heighten the effect of genuine blossoms, and an additional feature is that the leaves and petals can now be crushed or torn, one of the objections to the previous flowers. Flowers may be quickly washed with soap and water and are arranged that they may be opened or closed to represent fully blown blossoms or buds.

Wedded To A Tree

Bring God In God Is A Tragic Figure
A small gift of trees for the home may be extended hand at death and to a sacred tree at Bardon Hill, and puts her arms around it, crying softly over the tragedy of her life. The tree is her husband under whose shade she has always had a home. When she was 35 years old she had smallpox. Her face was disfigured and she was blinded. Her father, deciding no man would ever want to marry her, and not desiring to waste his life in a futile search for an unlikely daughter, had her married with full Bardon rites, to the tree. There was a formal wedding feast in celebration of the event.

In a recent month nearly 60,000 pairs of leather slippers were sent from this to other countries.

I took the medicine from the doctor whom I consulted, but it did not appear to help me any. I then took the Pink Pills while taking it. Then a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Speed Hard To Imagine

Expect English Racing Plane Will Soon Travel 300 Miles An Hour

Some weeks ago an English army officer, a general in the French Foreign Legion, drove his car at a speed of 207 miles an hour. This is the greatest rate of travel ever made in any sort of machine driven on land or sea. But it is reported that an airplane has been made in England for forthcoming race which can develop a speed of 300 miles an hour.

It is not easy to realize what is meant by such a speed. It is a speed of speed. The fastest express trains rarely go faster than sixty or seventy miles an hour. Three hundred miles an hour is a speed greater than the average speed developed by the man who began running from the great height. The Frenchman Jean de Ramey, flying over Beaumont-en-Oise, came into difficulties at an altitude of more than four miles, and jumped with his parachute from the machine. He fell 1,000 feet, but was only 300 feet from the ground, but in time to save his life. From the moment he jumped until the moment the machine opened its canopy, he was in the air for over a minute. He was the first to do this in England.

Will Protect Fur Industry

Tax On Pelts Takes In Northwest Territories Effective January 1, 1925

The act imposes a tax on furs taken in the Northwest Territories, passed at the last session of Parliament, will come into operation on January 1, 1925, according to an announcement by Hon. H. G. Birrell, Minister of the Interior. The tax in these territories was imposed by the Dominion in order to place them on the same basis as the various provinces, and the value of the furs taken in the Northwest Territories is to be taxed at 10 per cent of the value of Prince Edward Island, imposed a tax on furs to aid provincial revenues. The tax will be on the same basis as the tax on the prairie provinces and British Columbia, and will tend to prevent smuggling of furs from these provinces into the Territories for tax purposes.

It is expected also that conservation of furs will be promoted by the imposition of the tax, as the price of the fur will be required to cover the cost of the tax and in order to prevent the smuggling of valuable small pelts in quantities of non-taxable furs such as weasels, mink, etc., will be examined and taxed.

This is believed will check the pernicious practice of taking uprime fur, that is, furs of animals killed when not in prime winter condition.

The act also provides that the tax will be reduced to 5 per cent for the most disturbed corner of Europe. The provinces are disbanding three infantry regiments, three light infantry regiments, and two cavalry regiments.
